

My games

I created this game above in the second semester of year one, I created most of the art on the image above and I coded the game, the aim of the game was to fly the helicopter to the star without colliding with any of the birds.

This game is a zombie survival game, the player has to reach a certain score to beat the game without losing three lives from being hit by the zombies. I created all the art for this project.