

My art

In my art module I was tasked with creating a character to rig in an animation, this was the character I created, beneath that is the background I created for the animation of this character, the character rigging was difficult but in the end it worked quite well, then the last piece of artwork displayed here is a demonstration of my photoshop skills.

